

Guide to Estimating Practice—sixth edition

The Guide to Estimating Practice has been developed by the Australian Institute of Building—AIB to provide an authoritative standard for good practice in estimating building work. Use of the Guide ensures estimating practices within the building industry reflect current technologies and structures.

The guide provides:

- a useful reference of costing fundamentals
- an invaluable aid for anyone reviewing their tender preparation processes
- a valuable reference for students enrolled in building technology courses
- a reference for estimating and cost control at tertiary level
- a handy standard for the design, estimating and construction of building projects, and
- a standard and detailed reference to estimating procedures.

The Guide to Estimating Practice—sixth edition, is a ninety-page soft-cover publication.
